

Would you like practical and reliable information about how to give medicines to your child safely?

Celebrating 15 years of delivering the best and most up-to-date info, we have relaunched our website with a fresh look and even more resources on how to safely give medicines to children. We provide the essential information on children's medicines, especially written for parents and families.

How do I give my child their medicine?

Could there be any side-effects?

What if I forget to give the medicine?

Why do parents need information?

Every medicine comes with an information leaflet, but these leaflets are often about its use in adults and not children. They may not answer your questions in relation to your child and how to give them the medicine.

Information you can trust

Our website provides practical information on children's medicines, addressing the issues which parents can face when caring for their child at home. The information is written by children's doctors and pharmacists, and checked by parents like you.

Free and available online

medicinesforchildren.org.uk hosts over 220 children's medicines information leaflets and 'how to' videos. Check to see if there is leaflet on your child's medicine.

Information leaflets and videos on how to give medicines

Advice on side effects, unlicensed medicines and other important topics

Resources for health professionals

Medicines for Children

medicinesforchildren.org.uk

Practical and reliable advice about giving medicine to your child

 medicines.leaflets@rcpch.ac.uk

 @MedsForChildren

Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health
Leading the way in Children's Health

the national charity for sick children

Neonatal & Paediatric Pharmacists Group

